OUR DAILY MEALS

We all know that to live we must have food, but we do not all realize that we must eat the right kinds of food to be at our best and to work efficiently.

It is true that a great many families are not well nourished, not because they do not spend enough money for food, but because they do not get enough food value for the money spent. The average housewife of to-day finds that it takes a great deal of thought and care to make wise choice of food that will best suit the needs of her family and yet keep within the amount of money that she can afford to spend.

Many housewives have increased the cost of their food supply through lack of thought in buying. The cost of food is no measure of its food value. A high-priced article may have little food value, while a low-priced article may have high food value.

In buying food, to insure that the different kinds of food are provided so that the family may be well fed at the lowest cost, one-fourth to one-third of the money should be spent for bread or cereal foods. A pint of milk should be allowed for each member of the family, and the same amount that is spent for milk should be spent for meat, fish or meat substitutes, and as much again should be spent for fruit and vegetables.

THE DAY'S FOOD

A man of average size, who is moderately active, is likely to be well fed on a diet which includes the following:

One pound or a little less of bread or cereal food, such as wheat, corn, hominy, rye, oatmeal, barley, buckwheat, or rice preparations.

Two ounces or 4 tablespoons of fat, such as butter, oleomargarine, corn oil, cottonseed oil, peanut oil, olive oil, meat drippings, etc.

Two to 3 ounces or 4 to 6 tablespoons of sugar, syrup, corn syrup, molasses, maple sugar or syrup, honey, etc.

About $\frac{1}{2}$ pound of meat as purchased, poultry, fish, eggs, cheese, dried peas, beans, lentils, cowpeas, peanuts, etc.

One pint of milk. This may be in the form of a beverage, or in milk dishes.

About $\frac{1}{3}$ pound of potatoes or root vegetables.

About $\frac{1}{3}$ pound fresh vegetables or greens, or fresh fruit in season. If fresh fruit is too expensive, dried fruits should be substituted.

SELECTION AND PREPARATION OF FOOD

It is well to remember the following:

That it pays to figure carefully how much food is needed.

That it pays to buy clean food from clean stores.

That it pays to go to market, buy for cash, and carry home the foods that are bought.

That foods which are plentiful cost little.

That anything out of season is always expensive.

That food in package form is more expensive than that in bulk.

That it is cheaper to buy in large quantities than in small.

That all foods should be prepared in such a way that all their food value may be kept and none of it wasted.

That a variety of food from day to day, rather than a great variety at one meal, will not only keep the cost of food down, but also lessen labor, to say nothing of its good effect on the body.

CARE OF FOOD MATERIALS

After food has been carefully selected, it is important that it should be carefully stored and prepared. It must be kept clean and sweet.

Milk and cream should be kept in clean receptacles, closely covered, in a cool place. If purchased in bottles, the bottles should be carefully washed and wiped before putting them in the refrigerator. The top of milk should be used for the breakfast cereal, beverages and puddings.

Eggs should be washed before using. Egg shells may be used for clearing coffee or soups. The white of egg clinging to the shell does the work.

Fruits should be washed and wiped dry, and kept in a cool, dry place.

Salad greens should be carefully washed and picked over. The outside coarser parts may be used in making soups and sauces. The inner, finer parts should be used for salads. After the salad greens have been carefully washed, they should be put into a cheese-cloth bag and kept in a refrigerator.

Meat and fish should be taken out of the paper wrappings immediately, as the paper absorbs some of the juice of the meat. Meat and fish should be wiped clean with a piece of cloth dipped in salted water. The trimmings should not be removed at the butcher shop, as they may be used in many ways. Extra fat on the meat should be removed before cooking and used as a butter substitute. (See page 38.) Fat of meat may be used with vegetables and in suet puddings, in cookies, soups and sauces. Bones and left-over meat may be used in making soups, croquettes, meat pies and hashes.

Fish or other food with a strong odor should be kept in a covered dish that the odor may not affect other foods. A tin lard pail is good for this. Head, tail and bones of fish may be used in making fish soups and fish sauces.

Cheese should be kept in a cool, dry place, wrapped in a clean cloth which has been dampened in vinegar.

Bread should be kept in a covered box or crock. Pieces of stale bread are good for toasting and bread puddings. Odd pieces of bread should be dried and crumbed, and are kept best when left in a paper bag.

Flour should be kept in closely covered bins. When empty, the bins should be washed, scalded and dried in the sun, if possible.

Cereals should be kept in covered jars.

Baking-powder should be left in the tin can, closely covered.

Bottles containing flavoring should be kept closely covered and should never be allowed to stand any length of time uncovered. Flavorings should be added to mixtures after cooking, when possible.

MEASUREMENTS

Much good food is spoiled in cooking. In order to have good results in cooking, reliable recipes should be followed accurately. Correct measurements are absolutely necessary to insure successful results.

A FEW GENERAL RULES

Sift flour, meal, powdered sugar, confectioners' sugar and soda before measuring.

Mustard and baking-powder are apt to settle in the can, and therefore should be stirred to lighten before measuring.

Salt lumps easily, and the lumps should be broken before measuring.

Dry materials, such as flour, should be measured lightly with a scoop or spoon, and not packed hard into the measure.

Every household should have measuring cups, measuring tablespoons and teaspoons on hand.

All the recipes in this book call for level or flat measurements.

To measure butter, lard, or any kind of fat, pack solidly into the cup or spoon and make level with a knife. If the fat is very hard, it may be softened by leaving it in a warm place for awhile, or it may be cut into small pieces before measuring it.

To measure a spoonful of any dry material, dip the spoon into it, fill it, lift it and level it with a knife.

For a half spoonful, divide lengthwise.

For a quarter of a spoonful, divide the half crosswise.

For an eighth of a spoonful, divide the quarter diagonally.

Less than one-eighth of a teaspoonful is considered a few grains.

A cupful of liquid is all the cup will hold.

A teaspoonful or tablespoonful is all the spoon will hold.

NOTE.—It will be found that a heaping teaspoonful of dry material, such as baking-powder, is the same as 4 or 5 level teaspoonfuls. Housewives who are not in the habit of using level measurements are apt to think that recipes calling for level measurements require more material than those that they have been using.

BREAKFAST DISHES

FRUIT

CEREAL MIXTURES

MILK

Europeans are in the habit of serving much simpler breakfasts than Americans. The breakfast should be filling and satisfying to start the day well. A few well-cooked dishes served at one time always make a more wholesome meal than when a great variety is served.

It is a good plan to serve some kind of fruit for breakfast. This may be fresh fruit, when it is in season and plentiful and not too expensive, or it may be dried fruit, which has been stewed.

Mildly acid fresh fruit in good condition should be served raw.

Dried fruit may be cooked alone or with the breakfast cereal.

DIRECTIONS FOR COOKING DRIED FRUIT

Wash fruit carefully.

Soak in cold water to cover overnight.

Drain fruit, heat the water in which it has been soaked to boiling point, add the soaked fruit, and let simmer slowly until fruit is plump and soft. A little sugar or syrup may be added if more sweetening is desired.

CEREALS

Cereals furnish one of the most important foods we have. Nature provides some kind of a cereal in almost every country. From the oats and rye of the Northern countries to the rice of the Southern countries. Man depends on it for his daily bread. Cereal foods include the kernels of corn, oats, rye, rice, wheat, barley, etc., the breakfast foods, meals and flours made from them, or bread, crackers, muffins, cakes or pastry, which are rich in cereal products. Cereals are used in one form or another, such as in mushes, gruels, macaroni, bread mixtures and all batters and doughs in every home. As a rule, the more cereal food used the cheaper the diet.

Cereal mush, or other cereal dishes, with milk for breakfast, furnishes a meal full of food value. It is a good plan to have several different kinds of cereal preparations on hand, such as those made from wheat, oat, corn, rye, barley and rice, that there may be a change from day to day. Corn and oat preparations furnish particularly good winter foods, as they are rich in fat and are therefore valuable heat producers. Cornmeal, oatmeal, rice and hominy grits are cheaper than the "ready-to-eat" breakfast foods.

As all cereals are rich in starch, they should be thoroughly cooked. The cracked cereals should be cooked twelve hours, while the steamed and rolled preparations require only one-half hour or more, as they are partly cooked at the factory.

Cereals when cooked should be stiff enough so that they can be chewed, that the saliva of the mouth may be thoroughly mixed with the cooked starch.

GENERAL RULES FOR COOKING CEREALS

Fill the lower part of a double boiler $\frac{1}{2}$ full of water. Place over the fire. Measure the water needed for the cereal and pour it into the top of the double boiler. Place over the fire, and when the water begins to boil, add the salt and the cereal slowly and let boil over the fire 10 minutes. Place over the lower part of the double boiler containing water, cover and let steam until ready to serve. If more water is needed during cooking, add boiling water.

(Instead of double boiler, two saucepans may be used, one a trifle larger than the other, the larger one serving as the lower part of the double boiler.)

(By using the fireless cooker, the cereal can be boiled 10 minutes over the fire in the evening, and then cooked overnight in the fireless cooker.)

CORNMEAL MUSH

1 $\frac{1}{2}$ cups cornmeal 2 teaspoons salt 6 cups water

Heat water to boiling point, add salt and the cornmeal slowly, stirring while adding. Boil directly over the fire 10 minutes, then cook over boiling water from 1 to 3 hours or overnight. Half milk and half water may be used.

OATMEAL MUSH

2 $\frac{1}{2}$ cups rolled oats 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoons salt 6 cups boiling water

Add the salt to the boiling water, stir in the rolled oats slowly and boil 10 minutes directly over the fire. Cook over boiling water one-half hour or more.

STEAMED RICE

1 cup rice 1 teaspoon salt 1 qt. boiling water or scalded milk

Put water and salt in top of double boiler, add gradually the well-washed rice, stirring with a fork to prevent rice sticking to the boiler. Boil 5 minutes. Place over under part of double boiler and steam 45 minutes. Uncover that steam may escape.

WHAT TO DO WITH LEFT-OVER CEREALS

Fill molds with cereal mush packed tightly and let stand until cold and firm, slice and brown in fat. Serve with syrup. Cornmeal mush is very good for this.

Cheese sauce, tomato sauce or creamed fish, meat or eggs may be served on slices of fried mush.

Mix left-over mush with cheese, finely-chopped meat or fish, slightly beaten egg, and seasonings; shape into cakes and brown in fat, and serve with a sauce.

Mix cereal mush with salt and pepper, shape into cakes, brush over with melted fat, place a small Hamburger steak on top, and bake in a moderately hot oven until nicely browned. Oatmeal mush is particularly good.

Mix cereal mush with fruit, mold and chill. Serve with cream or a fruit sauce as a dessert.

Arrange cereal mush in layers with sweetened fruit in well-greased baking dish and bake until nicely browned on top. Serve with fruit sauce or cream as a dessert.

Add cereal mush to yeast bread mixtures or quick bread mixtures, several recipes of which will be found in this book.

Add cereal mush to meat loaf mixtures in place of bread crumbs, or both may be added.

Add cereal mush to croquette mixtures.

Boiled rice may be served with meat, or it may be served with cheese sauce as a supper dish, or it may be served with cream or a little sweetened fruit as a dessert.

TOAST

Toast is considered easy of digestion and is always palatable.

How to Make Toast.—Cut stale bread into $\frac{1}{4}$ -inch slices, put slices in a wire toaster, lock toaster and hold over or under the heat, holding it some distance from the fire that it may dry gradually, and then brown as desired. Toast, if piled compactly and allowed to stand, soon becomes moist. It should be served as soon after toasting as possible.

CREAM TOAST

Dip 8 slices of toast into the cream sauce. Pour remaining sauce on the pieces of toast and serve hot.

CREAM OR WHITE SAUCE

Rule 1

1 pint scalded milk
2½ tablespoons flour

2½ tablespoons water
¼ teaspoon salt

1 tablespoon butter
or fat

Mix the flour and the water until smooth; add a little more cold water to make it thin enough to pour; add the flour mixture gradually to the scalded milk, stirring constantly until thickened. Boil 5 minutes, if cooked directly over the fire; 20 minutes if cooked in double boiler. Add the salt and butter.

Rule 2

Melt the fat, when 2 tablespoons should be used; add the flour, mixed with the salt, and stir until mixed. Add gradually the scalded milk, stirring all the time until all is added. Cook until smooth and thickened.

NOTE.—Chipped beef, previously soaked in hot water, left-over cooked meat cut into small pieces, flaked fish, oysters, finely-chopped cheese, chopped hard-cooked eggs or cooked vegetables may be added to the sauce, seasoned, heated and served on the toast.

FRENCH TOAST

1 egg slightly beaten
¼ teaspoon salt

Slices of bread
2 tablespoons sugar or syrup

1 cup sweet milk
Fat to grease the griddle

Add the salt, sugar and milk to the slightly beaten egg, dip the pieces of bread into the egg mixture. Cook the soaked slices of bread on a well-greased griddle; brown on one side, turn and brown on the other. Serve with maple syrup or jelly. Served with steved fruit, makes a good dessert.

CEREAL FLOUR AND MEAL MIXTURES

BATTERS AND DOUGHS

From cereals we have flour and meals which can be used in a number of ways to make wholesome and palatable dishes. Flour is used in batter and dough mixtures, and as mixtures of flours and batters alone when cooked would be hard and difficult of digestion, different leavens, such as baking-powder, soda and yeast, are used to make them light.

Mixtures of flour or meal and liquid are called batters or doughs according to the quantity of liquid used.

The dry ingredients include flour, meal, sugar, salt, spices, and baking-powder, soda, etc. Mixed flour mixtures furnish better body-building material than those made from one grain alone.

Fats called "shortening," added to make the mixture tender, include butter, oleomargarine, nut margarine, drippings, lard, chicken fat or vegetable oils. (See directions for rendering fat to be used for shortening, page 38.)

The liquids used in batters and doughs are water, milk, whey, molasses, syrups, coffee, eggs, etc. Sour milk may be used in recipes calling for sweet milk, when $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon soda should be added for each cup of sour milk, and for each $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon soda added, 2 teaspoons less baking-powder is required.

Batters are made "light" or "porous" by the introduction of a gas which is expanded by the heat during cooking.

GENERAL DIRECTIONS FOR MAKING AND COOKING GRIDDLE CAKES

Sift flour before measuring.

Put flour by spoonfuls into the measure and do not press or shake down.

Measure, mix and sift dry ingredients.

Measure the liquid ingredients and add to the dry ingredients.

Mix thoroughly and add the melted fat.

Use a frying-pan or griddle.

Heat the pan hot without burning the cake.

Grease the griddle if necessary. (A soap-stone or aluminum griddle must never be greased.)

Let the fat begin to smoke before cooking the cakes.

Pour the mixture from the tip of the spoon; cook on one side; when puffed full of bubbles and cooked on the edges, turn and cook on other side.

If large bubbles form at once on the top of the cakes, the griddle is too hot.

If the top of the cake stiffens before the under side is cooked, the griddle is not hot enough.

Never turn a cake twice.

Remove scraps and wipe pan after each set of cakes is cooked.

Grease pan and repeat.

Serve griddle cakes as soon as cooked.

STEAMED BREADS

GENERAL DIRECTIONS FOR STEAMING BREADS

A mold, a tin-pail, such as a lard pail; or a can, such as a baking-powder can, with a tightly-fitting cover may be used.

Grease the inside of the mold thoroughly. The greased molds should be filled ¾ full. The molds should be covered with well-greased paper and the covers adjusted securely and tied down with a string. The molds should be placed on a rest or several layers of soft paper in a large kettle, containing enough boiling water to reach half way to the top of the mold.

Keep the water boiling all the time during the steaming. Add more boiling water if necessary.

Cover the kettle during the steaming, and be careful not to jar it while cooking.

BREAD AND BREAD MAKING

In most households bread is the chief cereal food served, and is often called the "Staff of Life." It is most important that the bread should be well made, light and crusty, that it may be wholesome, nutritious and palatable.

When well made it is a food of which we do not tire. Soggy bread forms tough lumps which the digestive organs cannot work upon as they should, and when such bread is eaten daily it may do serious harm.

A good loaf of bread should be light, the cavities of uniform size and evenly distributed throughout the loaf. The loaf should be small, rather than large, that it may be thoroughly baked, the crust should be a golden brown, and either soft or crisp, but not tough.

INGREDIENTS NEEDED FOR BREAD MAKING

The necessary ingredients for bread making are flour, liquid and yeast.

LIQUIDS USED

The liquids used may be water, rice water, potato water, whey milk or milk and water. Starchy water, such as potato or rice water, makes a more moist loaf. Milk changes the flavor of the loaf, makes it richer in food value and a more tender crumb and crust. Usually one cup of liquid is allowed for each loaf of bread the size of a brick loaf pan.

FLOUR

White flour is the most important in bread making, with rye flour second. When wheat is ground into a fine flour, it has the power of stretching and expanding, making it ideal for bread making. It holds the air and carbon dioxide, and hardens on baking, forming the framework of the loaf of bread.

Corn and oats lack this quality, and therefore they are combined with white flour for baking purposes. Rye flour may be used alone or with white flour in bread making.

Americans have formed the habit of eating almost exclusively bread made with white flour alone, not realizing that other breads, such as rye, rye meal, whole wheat, whole cornmeal and oatmeal, are very good to eat and richer in food value. Bread made with white flour alone does not contain the lime or other mineral salts necessary to build up bones and teeth for growing children. The coarser cereals also relieve constipation.

The present emergency demands that we use less wheat, and it is a good lesson for us to learn, as it is in the interest of health that we eat bread made with mixed cereals.

The quantity of flour used, together with the handling of the ingredients, has much to do with the quality of the bread. For a firm, fine-grained loaf of bread, 3 to 4 times as much flour as liquid is used. For a coarse grain, from $2\frac{1}{2}$ to 3 times as much flour as liquid is used.

From $\frac{1}{4}$ to equal measures of other cereal flours may be added to the wheat flour. Mashed potatoes, boiled rice or left-over cereal mush may be used to good advantage in this way.

FLAVORS

Salt is used in bread making to give flavor, usually allowing $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt to a cup of liquid, or for 1 loaf.

Sugar, syrup or molasses is added to give flavor and hasten the rising, allowing 1 or 2 tablespoons to each cup of liquid. Fat, such as butter, lard, oleomargarine, nut-margarine, suet, cottonseed oil, peanut oil, or corn oil, is added to the loaf to make the loaf richer and more tender, allowing 1 tablespoon to each cup of liquid.

YEAST

Compressed, dry or liquid yeast is used to make bread light. In any form there is a collection of yeast plants massed together in a way that they will keep for some time. The strength of yeast depends upon the care with which it is made and preserved. Liquid yeasts are apt to be full of bacteria which will cause bread to sour. Every yeast cake contains millions of tiny yeast plants.

Air, warmth, moisture and a nitrogenous soil are necessary for their growth. All these conditions are provided when they are mixed with flour and liquid.

Heat will kill the yeast plants, while cold checks their growth, therefore in bread making the yeast mixture should never come in contact with anything hot until baking time, or be exposed to cold unless it is desirable to stop the rising for awhile. The amount of yeast used depends on the length of time desired for the process.

One yeast cake to a quart of liquid, or for 4 loaves of bread, is used if bread is started in the morning. One yeast cake to 2 quarts of liquid or 8 loaves of bread, is used if allowed to rise overnight.

Because of the high price of yeast, it may be a good plan to make liquid yeast when yeast mixtures are prepared regularly at home.

RECIPE FOR LIQUID YEAST

Four medium-sized potatoes, pared and boiled in 1 quart water. Mash the potatoes and add 2 teaspoons salt, 3 tablespoons sugar and the water in which the potatoes were boiled. Cool and add 1 dry yeast cake or 1 compressed yeast cake which has been mixed with $\frac{1}{4}$ cup lukewarm water. Pour into a stone or glass jar, cover and let stand in a warm place 3 hours or more. Each time mixture reaches top of jar, stir down; do this until it stops working. Cover and put in a cool place. Use $\frac{1}{2}$ cup liquid yeast in place of 1 yeast cake. Continue to use until there is but $\frac{1}{2}$ cup left, then prepare according to above recipe, using $\frac{1}{2}$ cup in place of 1 yeast cake in starting the new batch.

GENERAL DIRECTIONS FOR BREAD MAKING

First: Scald the liquids, add the salt, sugar and fat; cool.

Second: Mix the yeast with $\frac{1}{4}$ cup lukewarm liquid, using yeast according to the time desired for the process. If dry yeast is used, mix it with a little lukewarm liquid and flour several hours before adding it to the sponge.

Third: Add the yeast mixture to the lukewarm liquid mixture.

Fourth: Sift the flour, allowing 3 to 4 cups for each loaf. Add $\frac{1}{2}$ of the flour to the liquid mixture and beat thoroughly. Add more flour to make a dough, using a knife, until, when touched with the finger, the dough does not stick to the finger. A bread mixer is a time and labor saver. Turn dough onto a slightly floured board; knead by pushing the dough into the palms of the hands and drawing it forward with the fingers. Use as little flour as possible on board and hands while kneading. Continue until the dough is smooth and elastic to the touch. It takes from 15 to 20 minutes to knead with the hands and about 3 minutes in the bread mixer. Thorough kneading makes fine-grained bread.

Fifth: Put dough in a bowl, brush over with milk, cover closely, put in a warm (not hot) place and let rise to double its bulk. This may be overnight or in the daytime, depending on the quantity of yeast used.

Sixth: Knead again, shaping into loaves; divide dough into as many portions as there are cups of liquid in the mixture. Place in pans, brush over with skimmed milk or melted fat.

Seventh: Cover and let rise in a warm place to double their bulk.

Eighth: Bake loaves from 50 to 60 minutes in a moderately hot oven.

Ninth: Cool loaves on a rack or place them so the air can circulate freely around the loaf.

BREAD THAT REQUIRES NO KNEADING

In making bread that requires no kneading general rules for mixing given for kneaded bread should be followed, and the mixture beaten thoroughly instead of kneaded. It should be beaten the second time to distribute the gas bubbles evenly, and to make a fine-grained loaf. Well-greased pans should be half filled with the mixture.

The mixture should rise in the pan until double its bulk and no more, and then be baked in a hot oven at least 45 minutes or until brown on all sides, and until a hollow sound can be produced when the loaf is tapped with the finger.

When baked, loaves should be placed so that air can circulate freely around them until cooled. They should be put away unwrapped in a tin box or stone jar.

BEVERAGESTEA*COFFEE*COCOA*CHOCOLATE

Children and young people who have not stopped growing should not drink any tea or coffee. Tea and coffee should never be taken on an empty stomach, unless as a medicine.

TEA

To Make Tea.—Allow one teaspoon of tea to each cup of boiling water. Scald the teapot with boiling water, put in the tea, pour on the boiling water, and let it stand covered from 3 to 5 minutes.

COFFEE

To Make Filtered Coffee.—Allow 1 tablespoon of pulverized coffee to 1 cup boiling water. Scald the coffee-pot. Put coffee in strainer or muslin bag in coffee-pot; put on the range. Add gradually the boiling water and allow it to filter. Cover between additions of water. If desired stronger, refilter. This is considered the most economical way of preparing coffee. The coffee bag should be kept in cold water and not allowed to dry between the times it is used.

BREAKFAST COCOA

2 cups scalded milk
2 cups boiling water

Few grains sugar 2 to 4 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons prepared cocoa

Mix dry ingredients in saucepan; stir in boiling water gradually and boil 5 minutes. Add milk and cook 5 minutes longer, or until smooth and free from lumps. Mill with a Dover egg-beater to prevent albuminous skin from forming on top.

CHOCOLATE

1½ squares Baker's
Chocolate

4 tablespoons sugar
Few grains salt

1 cup boiling water
4 cups milk

Scald milk, melt chocolate in small saucepan placed over hot water; add sugar, salt and gradually boiling water while stirring; when smooth, place over the fire and boil 1 minute; add to scalded milk. Mill by beating with Dover egg-beater, and serve. Whipped cream or a marshmallow may be served on top of the chocolate.

SOUPS

Left-overs of meat, fish, vegetables and cereals can be used advantageously in making soups. The heavy vegetable pulp soups, such as split pea or bean soup, the cream of vegetable soups and the milk chowders are rich in food value. The thin meat stocks are valuable chiefly as appetizers. The plain vegetable soups contain the food value of the vegetables they contain. If cereals are added, it increases the food value.

Meat stock is water in which meat and meat bones have been cooked. When dark meat is used, it is called brown stock; when light meat is used, it is called white stock. Vegetable stock is water in which vegetables have been cooked.

SCOTCH BROTH

3 pounds mutton from the neck	1 sliced carrot	3 tablespoons rice or 3 tablespoons barley soaked overnight or 2 tablespoons flour for thickening.
2 quarts cold water	2 sliced onions

Heat gradually to boiling point and cook until meat is tender, strain and remove any fat. Reheat to boiling point, add the rice or barley and cook until the rice or barley is soft. The meat should not be thrown away, but used in stews, croquettes or meat cakes. If combined with a little broth, the flavor is restored.

CREAM SOUPS

Cream soups are made with thickened milk, combined with meat stock, fish stock or vegetable stock and pulp. They take their name from the kind of stock used, such as cream of chicken, cream of fish or cream of celery, potato, or whatever kind of vegetable or other food is used. With bread and butter, cream soup furnishes a complete meal.

Add the milk and seasonings. Heat to boiling point and serve with crackers, split and previously dipped in cold milk.

FISH

If more fish and less meat were used in the daily meals, it would help to reduce the cost of living. Fish contains the same food value as meat at a much smaller cost, and furnishes a food that not only tastes good, but is easily digested.

Whitefish, haddock, halibut, cod, flounder, smelts, perch, pickerel, sunfish and crappies belong to the white-fleshed family. Salmon, shad, lake trout, butterfish and herring belong to the red-fleshed family.

As the white-fleshed fish is considered more easy of digestion than the red-fleshed, it should be selected for invalids, convalescents or those suffering from weak digestion.

Fish should be eaten while fresh and in season. Stale fish is poisonous, so great care should be used in its selection. Fish contains albumen, and as albumen (which is like the white of egg) clots at a low temperature, it should be cooked at a temperature below boiling point of water.

Local fish should be used as much as possible. Find out all the kinds of fish that can be obtained in your locality.

HOW TO SELECT FRESH FISH

Select a fish that has bright eyes and gills, shiny scales, firm flesh, and is free from a disagreeable odor.

HOW TO CLEAN FISH

Remove the scales by drawing a knife over the fish, beginning at the tail and working toward the head.

Wipe the fish inside and outside with a cloth wet in cold, salted water, then wipe with a clean dry cloth kept for the purpose. Head and tail may or may not be taken off, according to the manner of cooking.

METHODS OF COOKING FISH

Broiling, baking and steaming are the best methods for cooking fish.

Fish suitable for broiling are: Split mackerel, white fish, cod, shad, trout, etc., sliced halibut and salmon, white smelts and small fish. To broil—brush with melted fat, sprinkle with flour, salt and pepper, and cook over a flame or clear fire.

Fish suitable for baking whole are: Whitefish, cod, haddock, small salmon, shad. Follow directions for baked fish.

Fish suitable for boiling are: Salmon, halibut, cod, haddock, trout, etc. Cook in piece of cheese-cloth. Add 1 tablespoon vinegar and 1 tablespoon salt to each quart of water.

Fish suitable for frying are the white-fleshed. Cook in deep fat or sauté in a little fat in a frying pan.

TIME TABLE FOR COOKING FISH

Baking—thick fish, per pound	10 to 15 minutes
Baking—thin fish, per pound	8 to 10 minutes
Boiling—thick fish, halibut, salmon, per pound	15 minutes
Boiling—thin fish, such as flounder, per pound	8 minutes
Frying—fillets or steaks	4 to 7 minutes
Frying—smelts or trout	3 to 5 minutes

TEST FOR COOKING FISH

When the fish can be easily separated from the bone, the fish is sufficiently cooked.

FISH—BAKED, WITH STUFFING

Select a fish weighing from 2½ to 4 pounds. Bake with or without stuffing.

STUFFING

1 cup crumbs (bread or crackers, or half and half)	¼ teaspoon salt ⅛ teaspoon celery salt ⅛ teaspoon pepper	Few drops onion juice, if liked ¼ cup water
½ cup melted fat

Mix ingredients in order given. If a dry filling is desired, the water may be omitted. Three tablespoons catsup, chopped parsley, capers, pickles, or oysters may be added. Clean and wipe the fish. Rub the inside with salt. Fill with stuffing and sew together. Cut diagonal gashes 1½ inches apart on both sides of the fish and place a strip of bacon or salt pork fat in each gash. Brush with melted fat, sprinkle with salt and pepper. Dredge with flour, tie in the shape of a letter "S" and bake on a baking sheet or strips of cotton cloth (so that it may be easily removed from the pan in a dripping pan). When the flour is browned, baste the fish once in 10 minutes. Cook until the flesh is firm and separates easily from the bone.

SALMON STEAKS—STUFFED

Buy slices of salmon ½-inch in thickness. Arrange half the number of slices in a baking pan, on thin slices or strips of salt pork fat. Cover with a well-seasoned, bread-crumbs stuffing. Cover with remaining slices of salmon. Sprinkle with flour, salt and pepper. Surround with left-over boiled potatoes, cut into fourths lengthwise. MEAT

In the average household there is perhaps no other food that calls for more thought in selection and preparation than meat. In no other country has meat been used so generously as in America.

With the present high cost of meat, American housewives are buying less meat than formerly, and are using what they buy more carefully than ever before.

The tough cuts of meat, usually the cheaper cuts, are located where there is motion, such as those obtained from the neck and limbs; while the tender cuts are located where there is little motion, such as those along the back bone. The meat part from all the cuts from the same animal contain the same food value, but there is more waste, such as bone and gristle, to some cuts, and this should be considered in buying.

To reduce the meat bill, make a little meat go a long way by preparing meat combination dishes, such as stews, meat loaves, meat pies, stuffed roasts, beef a la mode, etc. Make good meat gravies. "Spread the meat flavor." Only a little meat is needed to give flavor to a whole dish.

SELECTION OF MEAT

Meat should be uniform in color, the flesh firm and elastic to the touch. The flesh of beef should be of a bright red color and intermingled with fat that is yellowish.

Mutton should be dull red in color, and the fat white.

Lamb and veal should be lighter in color and flesh less firm than beef.

Meat should be removed from the paper as soon as it is received from market and should be kept in a cool place. Always wipe meat with a damp cloth.

Beef ranks first in nutritive value, with mutton a close second.

HOW TO PREPARE MEAT STEWS

Stewing is cooking slowly, a long time, in a small quantity of water. Cut the meat into rather small pieces; divide it into two portions; add one portion to cold water and heat slowly to boiling point. Meanwhile brown the other portion in a little fat in a pan. Then add it to the water and meat. The whole should be cooked slowly for three hours or until the meat is tender. Add vegetables the last hour of cooking.

Beef, mutton, lamb or veal may be used, selecting the tough pieces, such as the neck, shoulder, lower part of round, aitch bone, etc. Pieces of cold cooked meat may be added to the stew.

The pieces of meat are usually dredged with flour before they are browned. This gives color to the stew, a rich flavor, and thickens the gravy.

Onions, carrots, turnips, parsnips and potatoes are the vegetables commonly used in stews. Tomatoes, string beans and green peas are sometimes used. The vegetables should be cut into $\frac{1}{2}$ -inch cubes, $\frac{1}{4}$ -inch slices or strips, and added the last hour of cooking. The potatoes, however, should be parboiled 5 minutes, then added to the stew, allowing 20 minutes for cooking. The usual seasonings are salt and pepper. Sweet herbs, parsley, a bit of bay leaf, a few cloves, celery salt, or catsup may be added for variety.

Dumplings or Boiled Rice are often served with stew. When cooking dumplings, they should be placed so that they will rest on the meat and vegetables. Meat stew may be served on slices of Fried Mush.

MEAT PIE

Fill baking dish $\frac{2}{3}$ full with stew; cover with mashed potato, boiled rice, biscuit dough or cereal mush and bake until nicely browned on top.

NEW ENGLAND BOILED DINNER

4 pounds corned beef	6 small carrots or 3 large ones	6 medium-sized potatoes
6 small beets
1 small cabbage	2 small French turnips cut in thirds	6 medium-sized onions
		6 small parsnips

Wash the meat quickly in cold water. If it is very salt, soak it about 30 minutes in cold water. Simmer meat in a kettle, containing enough boiling water to cover, from three to five hours, or until the meat is tender. Wash and scrape the vegetables, leave the beets, carrots, turnips and parsnips whole, or quartered if preferred. Cut the cabbage into quarters. When meat is tender, remove from kettle, and, two hours before dinnertime, add the carrots, afterward the turnips and the cabbage. Thirty minutes before dinnertime, add the parsnips and potatoes and onions. The beets should be cooked separately. Reheat the meat with the vegetables. Serve meat and vegetables arranged attractively on a large platter.

HOW TO BROIL MEAT

Broiling is cooking by direct exposure to heat, over hot coals or over a flame (gas flame).

Cooking with little or no fat in a hot frying pan is called "pan-broiling." To make broiled meat juicy, turn often while cooking.

TO BROIL STEAKS OR CHOPS

Wipe meat with a damp cloth and trim off superfluous fat. Rub the wire broiler with a little of the fat, place the meat in broiler and broil over a clear fire, turning every 10 seconds for the first minute. After the first minute, turn occasionally until well cooked on both sides, or cook in a little fat in a frying pan, turning over. Season to taste. Pork chops must be very well done.

PAN-BROILED HAMBURGER STEAK

Chop finely one pound lean raw beef; season highly with salt, pepper and a few drops of onion juice. Add $\frac{1}{4}$ cup milk gradually; knead dough until spongy and shape into cakes. Heat a frying pan, rub with the fat of meat and pan-broil the steaks. Turn cakes often during the cooking.

One cup left-over oatmeal mush may be added to the mixture and is very good. Try shaping oatmeal mush into cakes, brush with melted fat; shape Hamburger steak mixture into cakes, place on top of oatmeal cakes. Bake in the oven until cooked and nicely browned.

GENERAL DIRECTIONS FOR BRAISING

The rump, top, round, blade, chuck, ribs, cross ribs cuts and flank stuffed are all good braised. Beef, mutton or veal.

To braise meat, wipe meat, sprinkle with salt and pepper, dredge with flour, and, if a lean piece of meat is used, lard previous to seasoning. Brown the meat on all sides in a little fat in a Scotch kettle or roasting pan. Then cover bottom of pan with hot water or meat stock. Then cover closely and cook slowly in the oven, on top of the range or in a fireless cooker two hours. Add vegetables, such as onion, carrot, turnips, cut into strips, balls or slices, and continue cooking until meat and vegetables are tender.

BEEF A LA MODE

Insert 12 large strips of salt pork fat or piece of suet into a 4-pound piece of round beef. Season with salt and pepper, dredge with flour. Put a piece of suet in a hot pan, brown the meat on all sides in this. Put in kettle with vegetables and water, according to recipe for beef stew. Cover closely and cook slowly 4 or 5 hours in oven or top of range.

POT-ROAST

When beef is similarly prepared (without the strips of fat and vegetables) and cooked in a smaller amount of water, it is called pot-roast.

Two cups brown sugar, 1 cup vinegar and 1 cup soaked prunes added the last $\frac{1}{2}$ hour of cooking provides a nice change.

MEAT EN CASSEROLE

Cut 2 pounds of meat into suitable pieces for serving. Sprinkle with salt and pepper, dredge with flour. Brown meat in a little fat in a frying pan. Put browned pieces of meat in casserole dish; add 1 carrot cut into cubes, 1 cupful stewed and strained tomatoes. Cover closely and cook 15 minutes. Add $\frac{1}{2}$ cupful peeled onions and 1 cupful potato balls, and continue cooking until meat and vegetables are tender. The casserole should be closely covered that the steam may be retained. Serve with boiled rice.

MEAT ROLL

Flank steak, or 1 pound	2 or 3 small pieces of	1 cup carrot, cubed
of thinly cut round	suet	2 cups stock or water
steak	2 onions	Bread stuffing

Beef, mutton or veal may be used. Wipe meat, trim edges, pound on both sides, spread with stuffing, roll and tie. Sprinkle the roll with salt and pepper, dredge with flour, and brown on all sides in hot drippings and lay it on the onion and carrot in a pan with the suet on top. Pour the water or stock into the pan. Cover tightly and cook slowly in the oven or on top of the stove. For round steak, cook slowly, covered, for $\frac{1}{2}$ hour or more in a moderate oven, then uncover and cook an additional $\frac{1}{2}$ hour. For flank steak, cook slowly, covered, for 3 hours or more in a moderate oven, then uncover last $\frac{1}{2}$ hour. Serve with brown gravy made by thickening the liquid in the pan. Individual rolls may be made.

ROASTING

GENERAL DIRECTIONS

Wipe the meat with a damp cloth. Dredge the surface with flour, salt and pepper. Put pieces of fat on the meat and in the pan (melted fat may be used and rubbed over the surface). Place meat on a rack in the pan. Put into a hot oven. The heat of the oven should be intense at first to sear the surface (about 10 minutes), and then the heat should be reduced and water added to cover bottom of pan. The meat should either be covered closely or basted often with equal parts of fat drippings and water. After the last basting, sprinkle with salt and pepper. Place meat on a hot platter and garnish.

GRAVY

Pour fat from pan; allow 2 tablespoons of fat to 3 tablespoons of flour for each cupful of gravy. Put the fat into the pan, add the flour and stir over a hot fire until well browned. Add the boiling water or stock gradually, boil 3 minutes, season to taste with salt and pepper, and strain.

ROAST CHICKEN

Select a chicken with firm flesh, yellow skin and legs.

Dress, clean, stuff and tie wings and legs close to body of chicken.

Place on its back on a rack in a dripping pan (or on thin slices of salt pork fat or chicken fat in a pan a trifle larger than the chicken). Rub the entire surface with salt and spread legs and breast with 3 tablespoons melted chicken fat or other fat and 3 tablespoons flour. Place in a hot oven and when flour is well browned, reduce the heat and baste every 10 minutes, if not roasted in a self-basting pan.

For basting, take 4 tablespoons of the fat in the pan and mix with 1 cup boiling water.

A 4-pound chicken requires about 1½ hours.

For the stuffing, use melted chicken fat or other fat.

STUFFING (1)

1 cup cracker or bread crumbs	Sage, if liked	½ cup milk, scalded
¼ cup melted fat	¼ teaspoon salt	1 teaspoon chopped parsley

TO ROAST TURKEY

Follow directions for roasting chicken.

CHICKEN FRICASSEE

3 pounds chicken	½ bay leaf	½ cup chopped salt pork
1 onion	1 teaspoon salt	fat or other fat

Season to taste. Arrange the browned chicken on a platter. Pour the gravy over it. Surround with a border of boiled rice.

CHICKEN STEW

Dress, clean and cut up a fowl, and put it into a stew pan. Cover with boiling water and cook gently until tender. After the first hour of cooking,

ROAST GOOSE WITH STUFFING

Select a goose of suitable size for the number to be served. One pound to a person is usually allowed. Dress and clean goose by scrubbing it inside and outside with soda water. Rinse in boiling water and dry; stuff and sew up or skewer. Rub with flour, salt and pepper, mixed. Place breast down in a roasting pan. Baste with the drippings; after the first hour, add 1 cupful water. Turn breast one side down in a roasting pan. For an 8-pound goose, allow 4 hours in a slow over. If potato or bread stuffing is used, arrange red steamed apples around the goose. To steam the apples, place with the skins on in a perforated dish over boiling water. Steam until cooked. Remove and chill. Carefully remove skins, being careful to leave the red pulp nearest the skin on the apple. Scrape skins so as to remove all pulp and return to apples. They should be a beautiful red.

FAT

Save every scrap of fat that comes with the meat and render it.

TO RENDER FAT TO USE FOR COOKING

Fat connected with tissue must be "tried out." The fat should be finely chopped and heated over water and strained. Done in this way there is no danger of burning and a white fat is obtained. If the fat has a strong odor, soaking it in salted water before rendering and adding a pinch of soda during rendering will remove it.

CLARIFYING FAT

To lessen characteristic flavors that are disliked by many, add to the rendered fat at least an equal amount of water and boil the mixture for an hour. Allow the fat to harden in a cake on top, pour off the water and heat the fat gently to drive off the water. This increases its keeping qualities. If the flavor is very strong, heating the fat with whole or skimmed milk (1 cup to 2 pounds of fat) will prove a more effectual method than the addition of water. Strain through the cloth to remove all bits of foreign matter.

CRACKLINGS

The bits of tissue left after rendering the fat may be used for shortening such flour mixtures as corncake and gingerbread— $\frac{1}{2}$ cup being equal to about 2 tablespoons of butter. If chopped sweet apple is added to corncake and a few raisins to gingerbread, the "chewy" bits of tissue are not noticed.

SOFTENING HARD FATS

To make hard fats softer for such uses as cake making, they may be mixed with softer fats—such as, 2 parts mutton or beef fat with 1 part lard or 3 parts mutton or beef fat with 1 part cottonseed oil. Melt the fats together and stir while melting. Stir occasionally.

SAVORY FAT

Strongly flavored fats, such as bacon, ham, or mutton, should be used. Heat the fat over a slow fire for about an hour with the desired seasoning—the amount and kind depending upon individual taste. Some of the seasonings that may be used are onion, sour apple, whole thyme, marjoram, savory and bayleaf. Savory fat may be used for warming up potato, seasoning vegetables, browning fish, seasoning left-over meats, and in many other ways.

USES OF CLARIFIED FATS

In substituting other fats for butter as shortening, a slightly smaller amount may be used and salt must be added. If the somewhat pronounced flavors of such fats as mutton or beef are objectionable, a little more flavoring—especially chocolate and spices—may be added.

Chicken or bacon fat is good for spreading sandwiches and in making pastry. A perfectly satisfactory fat for deep fat frying may consist of a mixture of any clarified fats, such as beef, mutton, lard and bacon, provided there is not an overabundance of the harder fats.

MEAT SUBSTITUTES

EGGS

Eggs are cheaper than meat. A fresh egg has a thick, rough shell. Nine medium-sized eggs, as a rule, weigh a pound. Eggs and egg dishes should be cooked at a low temperature.

GENERAL DIRECTIONS FOR COOKING EGGS

Have ready a saucepan containing boiling water. A general rule is to allow 1 pint of water to 2 eggs, and an extra cupful for each additional egg. Place the eggs in the water with a spoon and cover the saucepan. For hard-cooked eggs, let them stand on the back of the range or over a low flame from 40 to 45 minutes. For soft-cooked eggs, place the eggs in a saucepan containing boiling water. Let them stand on back of range or over a low flame from 8 to 10 minutes.

POACHED EGGS

Prepare a slice of buttered toast for each egg, and keep it hot. Have ready a shallow greased pan containing boiling, salted water to cover the eggs. Break each egg separately into a saucer and slip it gently into the water, being careful that water does not reach the boiling point. (If eggs are slipped into muffin rings in the water, the shape will be better.) Cook until the white is firm and a film forms over the top of the yolk. Remove the eggs from the water with a skimmer or griddle-cake turner. Drain, trim off rough edges and place each egg on a slice of toast.

POACHED EGGS AND CREAMED FISH

Poached eggs may be served on creamed fish or vegetables on toast.

BAKED EGGS

Toast circular pieces of bread from which a little of the centers have been removed. Place pieces on a buttered dish. Break an egg and drop contents in the center of each. Sprinkle with salt and pepper, dot with butter, pour on a little milk or cream and bake in a moderate oven until eggs are cooked.

BAKED EGGS WITH CHEESE

Follow directions for baked eggs, sprinkling slices of toast with cheese before eggs are dropped onto them, or slip eggs into buttered egg shirrers. Cover with white sauce, sprinkle with grated cheese and buttered crumbs. Bake until eggs are set.

BAKED EGGS IN HAM CASES

To 1 measure of crumbs add $\frac{3}{4}$ measure scalded milk and 1 measure of finely-chopped, cooked ham. Line greased custard cups with mixture.

Break eggs into the centers and bake until set. Serve with white sauce. Mashed potato may be used instead of the bread and milk mixture. Cheese may be used instead of ham.

NOTE: Baked eggs may be covered with buttered bread crumbs. Eggs may be baked in tomato shells.

CODDLED EGGS

Allow $\frac{1}{4}$ cup milk for each slightly beaten egg. Cook mixture in a double boiler until thickened. Season with salt and pepper and serve on buttered toast.

SCRAMBLED EGGS

2 tablespoons fat $\frac{1}{2}$ cup milk Few grains pepper
5 eggs $1\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoons salt

Beat eggs slightly; add salt, pepper and milk. Melt the fat in a frying pan, pour in the egg mixture and cook slowly, continually scraping from bottom of pan. When creamy, turn into a hot dish and serve at once. Serve with ham or bacon, etc.

SCALLOPED EGGS AND HAM

4 hard-cooked eggs $1\frac{1}{2}$ cups buttered hard 1 pint white sauce
 $\frac{3}{4}$ cup or 1 cup cold crumbs
chopped ham or meat

Chop the eggs, and follow the rule, alternating the eggs and meat, or add chopped eggs and meat to the sauce.

BREAD OMELET

4 egg yolks $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt 4 egg whites, beaten
1 cup bread crumbs $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon pepper 2 tablespoons fat
1 cup milk

Soak bread crumbs in milk, add beaten egg yolks and seasonings. Fold in stiffly beaten whites. Melt fat in omelet pan. Turn mixture into pan and cook slowly over a fire until delicately browned underneath and firm around the edges. Place on top grate in oven and bake until firm on top. Fold and serve with white sauce.

OYSTER OMELET

Fold in oysters, cut in halves, to omelet mixture, or add oysters to cream sauce. Follow directions given in plain omelet recipe.

MEAT AND VEGETABLE OMELET

Cook omelet. Add cooked vegetables or meat to the white sauce, or fold them into the omelet mixture.

CHEESE DISHES

One pound of cheese contains as much food value as 2 pounds of meat. Cheese may be added to white sauce and served with boiled rice or boiled vegetables or plain on toast. Cheese may be combined with left-over cereal mush, and baked as a soufflé or shaped into cakes and baked in the oven or browned in a little fat in a pan.

BAKED MACARONI OR RICE AND CHEESE

Sprinkle hot boiled macaroni or rice with grated cheese or cheese cut into small pieces. Arrange bread crumbs, macaroni and cheese; or rice and cheese, and white sauce, in layers in a well-greased baking dish. Cover with bread crumbs and bake in oven until nicely browned.

Tomato sauce may be used in place of the white sauce.

Cornmeal mush may be arranged in layers with cheese and baked. Boiled corn may be mixed with chopped green pepper and white sauce and arranged in layers with cheese and baked.

CHEESE FONDU

1 cup scalded milk	1 tablespoon fat	3 eggs
1 cup stale bread crumbs	$\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt	1 tablespoon catsup

COTTAGE CHEESE AND NUT LOAF

1 cup cottage cheese	2 tablespoons catsup	1 cup stale bread crumbs
1 cup coarsely-ground nut meats	and hot tomato juice to moisten	1 tablespoon vegetable oil
1 tablespoon lemon juice	2 tablespoons finely chopped onion	1 teaspoon salt
		$\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon pepper

Mix the ingredients thoroughly, add more seasonings if necessary, put mixture into a well-greased baking dish and bake in a moderately hot oven until nicely browned.

BEANS, PEAS AND LENTILS

There are a number of different kinds of beans on the market, such as the marrow, pea, kidney, black turtle, lima and yellow-eyed beans; the Manchurian beans, of which there are brown and red ones; the Chilian, of which there are brown, red and gray ones. The soy bean is richer in fat and flesh-building material than any of the other beans. Beans as a whole contain about the same food value, and the housewife who wishes to get the most food value for the money will do well in selecting the kind that sells at the lowest cost, provided they are in good condition.

Recipes given for one kind of beans may be used for any one of the others with just as good results.

CHILI CON CARNE

1 pint dried lima beans or kidney beans soaked overnight.	$\frac{1}{4}$ cup suet, forced through food chopper	$\frac{1}{8}$ teaspoon pepper
2 cups beef, chopped	1 red pepper, cut in strips	$\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon mustard
1 teaspoon salt	$\frac{1}{2}$ onion, sliced	1 tablespoon vinegar
		Tomatoes to cover

Arrange ingredients in layers in a bean pot. Cover with water and bake slowly 3 or 4 hours.

1 cup cooked red beans	2 tablespoons suet or oil	1 teaspoon salt
$\frac{1}{4}$ cup cooked carrot	1 sliced onion	Few grains pepper
1 cup cooked beef, cubed	$\frac{1}{2}$ tablespoon sugar	2 cups boiling water

Brown the onion and meat in the suet or oil; add all the ingredients, and cook slowly until water is nearly evaporated. Serve with boiled rice or boiled chestnuts.

STEWED RED BEANS WITH BACON

Wash and soak red beans in cold water from 12 to 48 hours. To 1 cup of beans use $\frac{1}{4}$ pound of bacon. Put bacon into a saucepan—add 1 carrot and 1 onion cubed and the soaked beans; cover with cold water, bring to boiling point and simmer one hour, or until beans are tender ($\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon soda may be added just as they are put over the fire). Drain and remove skin from beans. Taste and season. Serve hot.

BAKED BEANS

1 quart beans	1 teaspoon mustard	1 teaspoon salt
$\frac{1}{2}$ pound salt fat pork or vegetable oil	$\frac{3}{4}$ cup molasses

Pick over and wash beans; cover with cold water and soak overnight. In the morning, drain, cover with fresh water and cook slowly below boiling point until soft, then drain. Put $\frac{1}{4}$ -inch slices of salt pork fat in the bottom of an earthen bean pot or covered crock. Put beans in pot and bury the remaining pork (which should be gashed in several places) in the beans. Mix the salt, mustard and molasses in a cup; fill the cup with boiling water and pour the mixture over the beans. Add enough more boiling water to cover beans. Cover bean pot, put in oven, and bake in a moderate oven 8 hours. If baked a long time, they become dark and have a rich flavor. One cup oil may be used instead of the pork.

VEGETABLES

Vegetables should be used generously in our daily meals. They are chiefly valuable for the pure water and mineral matter they contain, which act as a tonic in our bodies. They contain cellulose or wood fiber, which stimulates the digestive organs to carry on their work. The cellulose stimulates the intestines so that their contents are kept constantly moving. Some vegetables contain starch, sugar and other substances.

Peas, beans and lentils will take the place of meat. Spinach is rich in iron, etc. It is well to eat many different kinds of vegetables in order to supply the body with the different kinds of mineral matter and acids they contain.

BUYING VEGETABLES

In buying vegetables, choose those that are in season and plentiful.

Potatoes.—Never buy sprouted potatoes. To test potatoes, cut one in halves, and if they are juicy enough to stick together the potato is good.

Cabbage.—Select those that are hard and heavy, with crisp, white leaves.

Winter Squash.—Select those that are medium-sized with no soft spots.

Summer Squash.—Select those that are light yellow in color, with the shell so tender that it can be broken with the finger nail.

Summer Carrots.—See that the leaves are green and fresh.

Corn.—See that the silk is brown and that the ear is well filled with good kernels that are full of sweet milky juice.

Peas.—Pods should be green and brittle; the peas green and not too large.

String Beans.—Break a pod. It should be brittle.

Lima Beans.—Select those with green, juicy pods.

Spinach.—Choose that with leaves fresh and dirty.

GENERAL RULES FOR COOKING VEGETABLES

Wash thoroughly. Pare, peel or scrape, if skins must be removed. Skins should be left on to keep in all the food value possible. Soak in cold water until ready to cook. Cook in freshly boiling salted water until tender. Drain off the water, shake over the fire, serve hot with seasoning, using 2 tablespoons fat, $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt, and a few grains pepper to 1 cup cooked vegetables, or serve with white sauce. (See page 8.)

NOTE.—Allow 1 teaspoon salt to 1 quart of water. Use enough boiling water to cover vegetables. Salt may be added when vegetables are put in, except in the case of delicate green vegetables, as peas, spinach, etc., when it should not be added until the vegetables are nearly done. To preserve the color of green vegetables, cook uncovered. Cabbage, onions and turnips should be cooked uncovered in a large quantity of water. By changing the water once or twice during the cooking, much of the strong odor and flavor may be lost. If dried bread be tied in a cheesecloth and placed on top of vegetable during cooking, it absorbs some of the odor. Water in which vegetables have been cooked is called vegetable stock and should never be thrown away but used in soups and sauces.

Winter vegetables should be kept in a cool, dark, dry place. Fresh vegetables may be washed and kept on ice in a clean piece of cloth.

SALADS

Simple salads consist of fresh vegetables which require no cooking, such as the salad greens, which include leaf lettuce, head lettuce, romaine, lettuce, endive, chickory, escarole, sorrel and watercress, and vegetables such as onions, cabbage, celery, cucumber and tomatoes. Any of these may be served with an oil dressing or a boiled dressing.

HOW TO PREPARE RAW VEGETABLES FOR SALADS

Separate leaves or stalks into their natural divisions. Examine them carefully, removing inferior portions, insects, etc., that may be found on the vegetables. Wash thoroughly in several waters. Running water is preferable. Salted water aids in removing insects. Drain off the water and dry with cheese-cloth. Greens may be kept in a paper bag in the refrigerator until serving time. Coarser portions may be used for soups or sauces, while the tender portions may be served raw. Great care should be exercised in the selection and preparation of food which is not subjected to heat before serving, such as salad greens. Salad plants, carelessly cultivated or handled, may carry dangerous bacteria, and therefore should be carefully cleaned.

Reserve $\frac{1}{4}$ cup milk to soak gelatin. Scald the remaining $2\frac{3}{4}$ cups of milk. Separate the eggs, beat the yolks, add the sugar and salt; stir in the scalded milk slowly and cook in double boiler until custard thickens, stirring all the time. Remove from fire, add the soaked gelatin and stir until dissolved, then strain. Beat the whites until stiff, fold into mixture. Flavor and turn into cold wet mold. Chill.

FROZEN MIXTURES

Ice and salt form a freezing mixture several degrees below the freezing point of water. Salt melts the ice, withdrawing heat from the contents of the can, and the melting ice dissolves the salt. The smaller the pieces of ice, the more quickly the change to liquid, and the more salt used, the more quickly the mixture is frozen. If too much salt is used, however, the frozen mixture will be coarsely grained. Three parts ice to 1 part salt is the best proportion for a smooth, fine-grained cream.

DIRECTIONS FOR FREEZING

Scald can, cover and dasher, then chill.

Place the can of the freezer in the pail; put in the dasher, and pour in mixture to be frozen. Cover and adjust top. Turn crank to make sure can fits in socket.

Fill the space between the can and pail with alternate layers of ice and salt, allowing 3 measures of ice to 1 of salt. The ice and salt should come a little higher in the pail than mixture to be frozen.

The can should not be more than $\frac{3}{4}$ full, as the mixture expands in freezing.

Turn the crank slowly at first, then turn crank more rapidly, adding more salt and ice if needed. Do not draw off the water, unless it stands so high that there is danger of it getting into the can.

After freezing, draw off water, remove dasher, and with spoon push solidly.

Put cork in opening of cover. Repack, using 4 parts of ice to 1 of salt. Place on top newspapers, an old blanket, or a piece of carpet.

HOW TO MAKE ICE-CREAM OR ICES WITHOUT A FREEZER

Cover bottom of pail with crushed ice. Put in baking-powder can, tumbler, or lard pail containing mixture to be frozen, and surround with ice and salt. Turn can or tumbler with hand occasionally, and as soon as it begins to freeze, scrape frozen mixture from sides of can with a knife or spatula, and beat mixture with spoon, continuing until mixture is frozen.

Ice-cream is frozen cream. Frozen pudding is frozen cream or custard to which fruits and nuts are added. It is usually served with a sauce.

Mousse is prepared with whipped cream, which gives it a mossy consistency. It is molded and packed in ice and salt.

Water ices are fruit mixtures diluted with water and frozen.

have curdled appearance, it will disappear in freezing. When cool, add flavoring and cream. Strain and freeze. Fresh fruit may be cut up and served with the ice-cream. Serve crushed fruit sauce, chocolate sauce or maple sauce, with or without chopped nuts, on top of each serve of ice-cream when desirable.

MARTHA WASHINGTON PIE

Bake cream of sponge cake mixture in 2 layers. Cool; fill between layers and spread on top with whipped cream, sweetened and flavored with vanilla.

CAKE FROSTINGS AND FILLINGS

Good frosting requires as much skill in making as candy. Boiled frostings are more delicious than those made with confectioners' sugar. When sugar is scarce, omit frostings on cakes, and use fillings only.

BOILED FROSTING OR WHITE MOUNTAIN CREAM

1 cup sugar	1-16 teaspoon cream of tartar	Whites of 1 or 2 eggs
½ cup water		½ teaspoon flavoring

Dissolve the sugar and cream of tartar in the water. Cover the saucepan first 5 minutes of cooking to prevent the formation of crystals on the sides of the saucepan. If 1 beaten egg is used, boil the sugar solution to the soft-ball stage, until it forms 2-inch threads when dropped from a spoon or fork. If 2 egg whites are used, boil to the firm ball stage. The syrup should not be stirred during the process of cooking, nor the saucepan moved. If crystals do collect on the sides of the saucepan, remove with a wet cloth or wet brush. When the sugar solution has boiled to the right temperature, pour it gradually into the stiffly-beaten whites of eggs, beating continually while pouring, and continue beating until of right consistency to spread on the cakes. Flavor.

NUT FROSTING

Add nut meats to White Mountain Cream.

LADY BALTIMORE FROSTING

Add nut meats, chopped figs, chopped angelica to White Mountain Cream.

FILLED COOKIES

Roll cookie dough into rectangular shape, sprinkle with spices or spread with fruit or fruit nut mixture. Fold, roll again and cut out and bake.

PASTRY

Pastry, if it is to be served at all, should be light, tender and flaky. It is then more easily digested.

Winter wheat flour, called pastry flour, should be used as it makes the pastry more tender than bread flour. Less shortening is required when pastry flour is used.

The lightness of the pastry depends upon the amount of air enclosed and its expansion in baking.

The flakiness depends upon the number of layers of shortening and paste formed by folding and rolling.

GENERAL DIRECTIONS

Use butter substitutes for the fat.

Rub in with the tips of the fingers or chop in with a knife.

Add enough cold water to make a stiff dough, using a knife for mixing.

All the ingredients must be cold.

Handle the dough as little as possible, and keep it as cold as possible, as heat melts the fat and makes it difficult to handle the dough.

Use as little flour as possible during the rolling.

Cut the pastry a little larger than the dish to allow for shrinkage.

RECIPE FOR PASTRY

1½ cups flour
½ teaspoon salt

¼ to ½ cup shortening

Cold water to make a stiff dough, about 4½ tablespoons.

Mix and sift the flour and salt. Rub in shortening with tips of fingers or cut it into the flour with 2 knives. Add the cold water, using a knife for mixing. Knead the dough lightly into a ball. Cut in two; roll into circular pieces to fit pie tin.

Wet edges of under crust, cover with upper crust, pressing the edges close together. Bake in a hot oven 40 to 45 minutes, or until fruit is cooked.

1 cup sugar
3 tablespoons cornstarch

Mix cornstarch and sugar; add to boiling water, stirring constantly. Cook until clear; add the butter, beaten yolks, lemon juice and rind. Cool. Line plate with paste. Prick the paste and bake. Fill with lemon mixture and cover with meringue, and bake until meringue is brown.
